A.H.S. Orchestra Leaves Friday For National Music Festival

Albany trip assured — Many contributions received from individuals and organizations — Will play Saturday morning — 47 musicians and chaperons going—List of patrons.

Students of the high school orchestra showed they were in earnest relative to going to Albany when they sold over $150 worth of tickets for a concert held in Addison High School Monday night. Many of the tickets were from contributors who donated much more than the value of the ticket to make this fund possible.

The concert presented Monday was superior to most concerts held in the high school. The musical work of the students was augmented by the pleasing voice of Mrs. Charlotte Brooks Sprague, soprano. She was accompanied by Miss Janet Taylor of the high school orchestra. The program was under the direction of Glenn L. Sprague, director of music in Addison High School.

William Levi Opens Shop For Woodworking

William Levi, well known Addison man, has embarked in the business of making woodworking specialties. He has built a shop at his home and for some time has been getting together machines and tools to do fine cabinet work and furniture repairing that ordinarily is only done in larger places. An ad in another part of this paper tells of his new venture.

Mr. Levi has had a lifetime experience in fine cabinet and woodworking. He started work in the Park, Winton & True plant when a young man and spent over twenty years altogether at the trade. He learned his trade in the molding and trim department of Park, Winton & True when the firm was doing a wide and varied business in fine woodwork. He also worked for a time in the Gunlocke Furniture factory. This gave "Bill" invaluable experience in making all manner of house trim and it has fitted him to build practically anything which is made of wood. He has an excellent set of wood-carving tools and frequently has been able to carve by hand in a few hours some damaged piece of house trim which would have cost many dollars to have replaced if the work had been done by machine, as it required setting up a machine and grinding the necessary tools.

In addition to a collection of some 300 hand tools he has installed in his shop a number of power tools including saws, lathe, shaper, boring machine and mortise and tenon machine. He has also built a special machine for doing various woodworking operations which is a combination of a cabinet-making machine and a framing machine. This machine will do 36 different operations.

Transportation will be provided for those unable to walk or tied up through other duties.

Today's clinic is the first treatment and a month hence the second inoculation will be given as it has been discovered by the State health authorities that two inoculations of preventative are better than the one formerly given.

A clinic will be conducted in Rathbone Tuesday, May 21. The same conditions will prevail there as in the Addison clinic. The second preventatives will be administered June 13 in Addison and June 18 in Rathbone.

Mrs. Bliss Weatherby, a sister-in-law and a cousin Mrs. Ira Cole of Watkins Glen attended the ordination ceremonies and will return to Addison the latter part of the week bringing with them the Rev. Weatherby, who will spend some time visiting his home here before being assigned to a parish.

SPIRIT OF COOPERATION

There have been many interesting examples the past week of persons coming forward to volunteer help for the cause of sending Addison High School Orchestra to the National Competition at Albany. All of these are a spur to the local boys and girls to do their best, none more so than the well-wishes of a stranger within our gates.

Tuesday morning following the concert a gentleman came into the office of the ADVERTISER and asked, "Do you receive contributions here for the band's trip to Albany?" Assured of the fact the stranger reached in his pocket and pulled out a bill with the remark, "I'm a stranger here, but I want to do something to help the cause along—if you'll please give this to them". Asked for the name the donor handed out a card showing he was Samuel T. Brightman of Fairhaven, Mass. The recipient of the money tried to express the thanks due such a gesture, but Mr. Brightman waved it aside with the parting remark, "I hope they make it!"

Never have we seen a finer spirit of cooperation expressed with deeds as well as words by so many persons who have volunteered help to send the orchestra to the National Competition.

The Rev. Johns comes to Scouting after several years in the movement as Boy Scout and junior leader. He is a Life Scout with 21 merit badges. He will take over the troop leadership Monday night.

Unsightly Dump Cleaned — Use Rear of Lot

Through the cooperation of the Addison town officials, the dump used by the village of Addison people has been cleaned of some of the unsightly mess which has attracted such unfavorable attention.

State highway officials, town officials and village authorities are concerned with the appearance of this dump as are health authorities. The town "bulldozer" was used to push the refuse away from the highway and to the rear of the dumping lot. Now, it is up to the people to throw refuse to the rear of the lot and not on the highway to keep this clean.

The State Highway Department called attention to the unsightly approach to the village and asked that something be done about it. If people of the village will not cooperate in keeping refuse away from the highway, drastic measures will have to be taken to fence off the dump.

Hi-Lights and Shadows of the Week's News

The war in Europe the past week has been moving with all the swiftness the name blitzkreig signifies. The blow of Hitler's armies through the low countries fell with all the fury and disregard for international law which has characterized the German dictator's meteoric rise to power in Europe. Striking at Holland and Belgium last Friday the Nazis have utilized all the terrible engines of destruction conceived during the 22 years since the Armistice of 1918.

* * *

Dutch troops met the attacking mechanized forces with bravery but, bravery alone could not stem the advance. Thousands of parachute troops descended in the vicinity of Rotterdam and from the morning of the invasion the Dutch were compelled to fight forces both inside and without the fortifications. Lowlands were flooded in an attempt to stem the German advance, all to no avail and Tuesday the Netherlands high command gave orders to his troops to capitulate. The war may become known in history as the "Five Days War" so rapid was the German occupation.

* * *

In Belgium the invaders met fortifications more equal to their assault. Thousands of planes and tanks were employed as the Nazis cut through Luxumbourg to meet the French forces and the Belgians who soon fell back to prepared positions where the German advance was stayed in 1914 for two weeks. The British had risked only a small force of 20,000 men in the defense of Holland, their main divisions being placed along the Belgians' line. The Germans were said to have lost

Maple Cemetery Funds Needed by D. A. R.

The women of the Daughters of the American Revolution have taken over the care and the upkeep of the Maple Street Cemetery. Prior to their taking it over, the weeds were allowed to grow wild, graves were unkept and the condition of the cemetery was one which made some of the lot owners ashamed.

For the past few years the graves have been kept up, the lawns trimmed, weeds kept out and trash kept from the grass of this beautiful spot. This project has necessitated a great deal of time and expense being put on the work by the women of the Daughters of Onwentsia Chapter.

The only aid they ask is that contributors make their contributions promptly for the care of the cemetery in time for Memorial Day. Those who will receive contributions are Mrs. Charles Crane, Mrs. Maple Woodhouse, Miss Jessica Turner, Mrs. Carrie Saxton or Mrs. William E. Barron.

Axtell Memorial Day Speaker

The Rev. John V. Axtell will be the Memorial Day speaker for services in Addison. The decision to ask him and the reception of the invitation by the Rev. Axtell were announced at a meeting of the Williams-Greengrass Post American Legion held Wednesday night. This was the first regular meeting held in the new quarters in the Village Hall which the Legionnaires are sharing with the Welles Hose Company.

Dr. Horace E. Auringer will be officer of the day and William Lewis will be grand marshal. There will be a parade in which all organizations in Addison are asked to participate. The Rev. N. V. Cossaboon will give the invocation at cemetery services and benediction will be pronounced by the Rev. Patrick Kelly.

The Legionnaires voted $10 to the high school orchestra towards the Albany National Contest trip.

The Town Board appropriated $35 for the replacement of markers on the graves of soldiers of all wars, buried in Addison. These have been ordered.

Poppy Sale for Disabled Veterans Will Begin Here Monday

Mrs. Reuben Brown appoints workers for house-to-house canvass — Ted Laffkas trims windows with Memorial theme—Funds to go to veterans for local relief work.

Mrs. Reuben Brown is general chairman for the sale of "Buddy" poppies in Addison and vicinity for the members of the American Legion Auxiliary. These poppies are reminiscent of the Flanders Fields poppies of France where the American troops fought with the Allies 26 years ago.

Today these poppies are made by soldiers in the veterans' hositals throughout the land and the Legion Auxiliary takes over the task of disposing of them. The money raised is used for the benefit of these hospitalized veterans. Part of the money remains here for local welfare work among veterans and their families.

Taking the war poem "In Flanders Field" where "the poppies grow between the crosses row on row" as a theme the Legion Auxiliary members aided by Ted Laffkas have a window decorated in the Laffkas & Son window. They also have a window of flags in the John W. Russ store. The window decorations were in charge of Mrs. Clare Chart.

Mrs. Brown has announced that a village-wide canvass will be held next week, beginning Monday to try and have every adult wear a poppy during Memorial Week. A canvass committee has been appointed to make this house-to-house visit. The young ladies who will assist are: Main and Colwell streets, Peggy Knebel and Betty Jean Kennedy Front and Wall streets and Park Place, Geraldine and Margery Pepper and Oneta Smith; lower Front street, Mrs. B. F. Short; lower Steuben street Vivian Jacobson; Tuscarora street, Margaret Gladstone and Mary Maine Hess; upper Maple street, Helen and Shirley Auringer; lower Maple and Goodhue streets, Shirley Anne and Edith Mae Frost; upper Steuben and Grove and Baldwin streets, Norma Grandon; southside, Martha Laffkas and Barbara Keck. In addition Mrs. Robert Mason will have charge of Woodhull, Mrs. William Lewis of South Addison, Miss Lenore Runyan of Presho and Robert Herrington of Borden.

For those who are not reached by the canvassers, workers will be on Main street Saturday, May 25 so that everyone in the community will be wearing a poppy by Memorial week. Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Chart will establish headquarters in the Russ Store Saturday, May 25 for the workers and for those who want to contribute.

Fire Board Tables Boat Purchase—Pays for Oars

The Addison Fire Board, composed of members of the Phoenix and Welles Hose Companies met Tuesday night in the village hall. A proposal to buy a boat for use in flood times and other water emergencies was tabled at this time. It is the belief of many men in the companies that a boat should be part of the safety, emergency and first aid equipment of the village.

The men voted to repair chemical hose to be used for washing the fire trucks. A pair of oars broken in rescue work during the recent flood will be paid for and the owner reimbursed. Lewis Handy, president, was in charge of the meeting.

Girls' Friendly Society To Give Marionette Show

The stringed dolls which the members of the Girls' Friendly Society have been making and dressing for the past few months will make their first local public appearance on May 20 at 8 o'clock in the Addison Opera House. This is the first time that marionettes will have appeared in a public performance in Addison.

Three plays will be presented: "The Lad and the Ogre" with Mary Kelly, Marian Baker, Velma Strait and Patricia O'Reilly as puppeteers; "The Newlyweds" with Helen Auringer, Shirley Johnson and Lela Dann; and "The Prince Without a Tongue" with Hazel Mosher, Waneta Mead, Barbara Keck, Shirley Frost, Edith Frost, Vivian Thomas, Martha Laffkas and Joyce Allen. Freda Cook is the announcing clown.

Anyone who is at all familiar with marionettes or any kind of puppet knows that these dolls portray better than real people certain types of stories and characters. Because marionettes are perfectly cast in farces, fairy tales and whimsical stories, the three plays chosen for presentation are varied and contain qualities of those types of stories.

Scout Official Praises Advertiser

The Addison Advertiser has received a letter of commendation thanking this paper for its cooperation in the Boy Scout drive for funds and in the reporting of other Boy Scout news. The letter was signed by P. G. Schumacher, president of the Steuben Area Council.

"On behalf of the Steuben Area Council Boy Scouts of America, I wish to thank you for the help which you have given the Scouting movement, and in particular the finance campaign recently conducted through publicity in your columns.

"Scouting, of course, is a year around program, and there are publicity releases more or less throughout the year. Your continued splendid cooperation will, therefore, be appreciated, and will serve to further the cause of Scouting throughout the Area.

"Boy Scouting bears the stamp of approval of every religious group, educators, jurists and statesmen. There still remains a lot to be done, however, in carrying the message of Scouting to the public, and I feel that the cooperation of our newspapers is a most effective means of telling the story of Scouting".

O. E. S. MEMORIAL MEETING

The annual memorial meeting of Tuscarora Chapter O. E. S. will be held in the Chapter rooms at eight o'clock Thursday evening. At this meeting honor will be paid to the memory of deceased members. A good attendance is urged.

CONDITION IMPROVING

The condition of Walter Perkins who suffered a heart attack several weeks ago is improving slowly.

Clean-up Days Fri. and Sat.

Plans are completed for the annual clean-up days to be held in Addison under the auspices of the Village Board. It is the desire of the authorities to beautify the village, and to ask that people cooperate in beautifying their properties, cleaning up junk and trash and carting it away.

The village truck will be put in use and additional men will be engaged by the street commissioner to assure every street and every home being serviced by the truckers.

Refuse will be picked up on the northside of the river Friday of this week and Saturday on the south side.

Householders are asked to place trash cans, and all sorts of junk and accumulations at the curb. Garbage and ashes will not be picked up but all other refuse will be taken away.

In this way it is hoped that all properties will be beautified for summer and that this will make householders take pride in their homes and surroundings.

LELAND PHILLIPS IN A & P

Leland Phillips, Baldwin Avenue has entered the employ of the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company as a clerk in the Addison Store. He takes the place made vacant through the resignation of Richard Dininny, who is now employed at the Kendall Service Station.

RETURN FROM SOUTHLAND

Miss Jessica K. Turner and Miss Catherine Horey have reopened their home on Maple street, after a stay of several months in St. Petersburg.

Mrs. Edgar Dann's cookies were adjudged the best at the annual cookie contest held by Addison Grangers Friday night. Mrs. Jennie Mose was in charge of the contest. Other winners were Mrs. Earl Smith, in second place and Miss Annette Cutler was third place winner. The judges were Mrs. Carlton Ford, Mrs. Earl Beatty and Earl Smith.

"PIGS IS PIGS"

Last week from two different directions there bobbed up the old misery of the village dump. A reader sent a letter to the Advertiser condemning the unsightly appearance at the west end of the town caused by the ill-mannered way in which too many local citizens scattered tin cans and other rubbish along the highway instead of tossing it into the depression designated as the dump. At the same time village officials received a letter from Highway Engineer Brumm asking if something could not be done to do away with this unsightly mess.

Criticism for this condition should be directed not at officials but towards individuals who act with all the care and consideration of well-bred Berkshire hogs. The town has at different times scraped back the rubbish into the swamp and earnestly requested the public, through these columns, to refrain from littering up the sides of the highway. Judging by the response there must be scores of illiterate persons in Addison, or else, more shame to them, many persons are just so plumb low in their self-esteem they care not a whit for the appearance of the community in which they live. In any event the English language does not possess words which are graphic enough to describe the putrescence of that spot daily contaminated by the heedless hands of so-called human beings.

The village fathers have scratched their heads vainly trying to find a cure for the situation. They need to find some place for a dump which is accessible to the village on an improved road and at the same time a place which does not drain into the river and creek. One such location is now being investigated by the trustees with a view to purchase. If a decision is reached tentative plans would call for constructing a fence between the dump and the highway to screen the dumping place and make it difficult for persons to litter up the surrounding highway without danger of detection. Outside as a community should make some such provision necessary.

THE IMPONDERABLE

The long expected blitzkreig through the lowlands of Europe has finally been launched by the Mad Paperhanger of Austria. As this is written just twenty-four hours after news of the attack reached here appraisal of the outcome cannot possibly be made even by skilled analysts of military tactics.

It is known Hitler possesses a huge army of highly skilled soldiers drilled in the lightning war he exemplifies. It is known great troop concentrations were ready behind the Dutch-Belgium front prepared to go through at all costs. These troops are armed with the latest instruments of offensive warfare, tanks, machine guns and low-flying planes which can spray destruction on exposed ground forces. Hitler is supposed to have an army of some eight million men and estimated plane strength of between 8,000 and and 13,000 ships. This appears like an irresistible force for the allies to cope with in the air and upon land, and if the Nazis succeed in capturing the Dutch coast facing England the British supply lines to the front will be menaced along with the French flank of the Maginot Line.

However, one of the greatest military wizards of history laid great stress on the "imponderables" and there are many imponderables working for the Democracies in this fast spreading war. One of these imponderables is the stand of Pope Pius who has frequently decried the steps of aggression taken by Hitler and spoke out in no uncertain terms to condemn the outrage against Holland and Belgium almost as soon as the Nazis crossed neutral lines. Mussolini may itch to start shooting, but sentiment of the Italian man in the street is against war, notwithstanding the shouts of the controlled press. Italy is too exposed to allied attack to risk participation unless the Nazis should win a tremendous victory in Belgium and France. Italy is still more apt to be against than for Germany.

One of Hitler's greatest potential risks is the land he has overrun during the last three years. Austrian mobs did vociferous controlled yelling for the Dictator when he made his triumphal entry into Vienna, but the people in the background had hate in their hearts. There were no honest hurrahs in Czechoslovakia or Poland and the Norwegians are still fighting while the Danes endure the occupationists with veiled dislike.

Millions of people living in territory recently conquered by the Nazis regard liberty almost as dearly as life itself. Hitler knows this and the knowledge makes it necessary to divert hundreds of thousands of his troops from the fighting front to the occupied territories. Always there is that threat of a revolt by the Poles, the Czechs or the Austrians—a danger of justice lightly held now but always aimed at Hitler's heart ready to strike at the first sign of weakness. Inside the German army is surface efficiency of the amazing sort, but under the surface is the dissatisfaction of a divided authority. To German soldiers and officers the army is the supreme instrument of power, yet Hitler has allowed his Gestapo the power to spy upon the army command. Two cats each watching each other out of the corner of one eye while trying to battle a formidable foe.

The third imponderable is not one of human making or human frailty. It was created millions of years ago and by some strange twist of fate now bobs to the surface in the biggest single factor in winning of a prolonged mechanized war. Oil. Hitler's supplies of oil laid up against this emergency certainly must be dwindling. His replenishments are disappointing and the real cause for the stroke at Holland and Belgium which raised up a million and a quarter new armed enemies was quite surely the fear of running out of fuel if offensives were delayed. If the Allies can hold Hitler to meager gains in the low countries and keep his mechanized forces eating up oil the war may end more quickly than most pacifists could hope. Tanks stranded for lack of fuel oil are just heaps of rusty metal—thirteen thousand planes grounded for lack of gas are just thirteen thousand heaps of frustration.

The Frankenstein who created these large conquered provinces may soon find them turning to wreck vengeance upon him and the mad man who built this enormous air fleet to conquer all Europe may be even now watching that fleet eat up the supplies of gas without which his adventure is certainly lost.

May the day be speeded when Hitler is overcome by his own engines of destruction. Meanwhile we in America should not be deceived into thinking our debt to society can best be paid by rushing into this conflict. Our greatest contribution to civilization will be to put our house in order and help bind up the world's sores when the war is ended.

COMMUNITY CHEST PLAN

A member of the Addison Ad Club last week brought up for consideration of the members the idea of a community chest for Addison. It is a subject worthy of consideration and whether we should decide to adopt a chest plan, or not, discussion will be enlightening to most citizens who have only a hazy idea of how much or how little they are individually contributing towards the various community enterprises supported by public subscription.

It has been generally thought a community chest would not work satisfactorily in any community of less than 5,000 inhabitants. The obvious reason for lack of success in smaller places is the difficulty in raising a large enough fund in one drive to carry on the needed community activities. Larger places naturally have a number of citizens with considerable wealth and many of these persons would far rather give a substantial sum to a chest fund which would eliminate their being pestered continually for contributions to all manner of projects.

However, it has been pointed out that it has been possible to raise a community chest in a smaller place, for our nearby village of Elkland has been successful in this undertaking for a number of years.

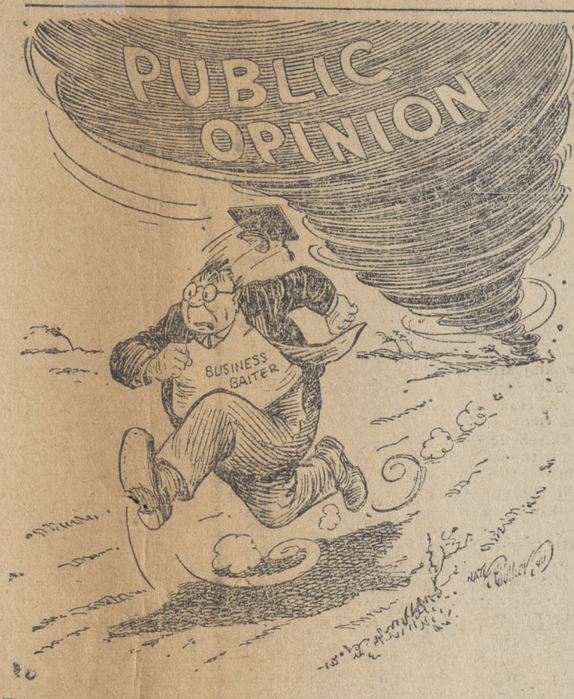
There are many arguments both for and against the community chest plan, but it is not the object of this article to try to "sell" the idea forthright, or to discourage such an undertaking in Addison. Rather, we would like to set in motion a discussion of the chest plan, if possible, so that citizens throughout the community can discuss it either through these columns or in groups.

Doubtless one of the arguments in favor of a chest which appeals to most people is the fact they make a single contribution during the year which is allocated to various worthy causes, instead of being solicited month after month for this, that and the other thing which may or may not merit their benevolence. Roughly, the plan for making a chest consists of representative citizens acting as directors meeting with the officials of the different groups or organizations which would be benefited. Each organization, if it is honest, submits figures for the amount it actually needs to carry on a program for a year. If the total of these figures exceeds the amount the directors think can be raised, then the directors pare down the requests, trying to keep uppermost in mind the service actually rendered by different organizations.

One disadvantage to chest giving is the fact some people may feel reluctant to give to a single fund and leave it up to others to allocate their gifts. This is not so much because they distrust those in charge of the chest as owing to the fact they may be intensely interested in one or two organizations and desire most of their gifts be placed in certain places. For instance, a citizen might be greatly interested in boy scouting and feel that a larger proportion of his community benevolence should be devoted to that cause than some other. Or some organization might be allocated funds which some persons might not wish to support at all. This might prevent the chest getting support from persons who would gladly give to the organization in which they were interested.

All these questions have been debated pro and con in communities which adopted community chests. Many more will be talked over here if Addison people get interested in the question of a local chest. That is as it should be. Anything worth considering is worth the thought and discussion of our citizens and this paper will be glad to publish letters pertaining to the chest question. Letters will be printed with, or without the signatures of the writers, according to their wishes. All who submit letters, however, must make their identity known to the publishers to receive consideration.

"REAPING THE WHIRLWIND"



The Rambler

I don't talk about religion. I don't mean I talk Protestant or Catholic faiths, but religion. Several times in the past for years I have heard remarks such as "the church is failing", "it's all right for children but not for me", "I don't like the minister or preacher, his sermons are so dull" and like remarks.

—o—

You may not realize it, but the founding fathers of this great Democracy of ours thought enough of religion to put it in the Constitution and permit you and I to have freedom of religion. If they thought enough of it to leave home shores and to fight for it, you should think enough of it to preserve it. All our liberties will rise and fall together.

The remark is made that, "the church is failing". Well, the best answer to that is one I heard recently. The critics usually claim some church affiliation. Therefore, they are part of it and in admitting the church's failure they admit their own failure.

—o—

As for the fact that "religion is all right for children" well, why bother to send the children if you have no confidence in the church or its pastor. Do you want them to grow up like you and get away from it? If you want them to get away from it in adult life, why bother to send them at all now. And if you do not send them and do not set the example you may awaken some day and realize that freedom of worship will be denied you.

To my mind, many of those who most severely criticize the church would be the first to fight if the privilege of worshiping God as they pleased were denied them. I'm leaving myself open here by admitting a person can worship God as they please, without going to church. But, like many rights we exercise them negatively, that is exercising them at our pleasure or whim or need.

Religion is the one remaining champion of the sanctity and integrity of human responsibility. There are denials of speech and the press in certain places, but we still worship as we please here. Religion of itself is individual and personal.

Dorothy Thompson, well known columnist predicts a great return to religion in 1940 and much speculation on the idea of a Christian society. And Christopher, a Catholic lay writer recently wrote, "The feeling of insecurity and of the humanitarian concern for the fate of other peoples probably explain much of the renewed interest in religion and religious solutions that is one of the signs of the times."

Karl Barth, a Swiss Protestant, warns again; the "easy and cowardly compromise with the secularism of the Nazis."

Lawrence Martin of the Denver Post recently gave a talk in which he chided newspapers for not doing more to foster religion. And the press answers that religion plays such a small part in the life of the average man that it has been relegated to a minor part in the newspaper makeup. You may disagree with this.

But in Addison alone the average is 500 people attending church on Sunday in a community of 1300 people with many rural residents making up part of each congregation. Think it over. A Denver survey showed that 58 per cent of the residents of that city had no church affiliation, and of the 42 per cent that had a religious affiliation many men kept the religion in their wives' names.

The dump is as clean as it is possible to make it. Here's hoping folks will try to keep it as clean as possible and this can best be done by burning all papers and hauling other trash to the rear of the dump as far as possible instead of dumping on the highway or near the highway as has been done in the past.

I suggested to Mayor Sisto that we have trash baskets placed along Main street to help keep the street clean. He told me that young hoodlems would have the baskets in the streets in no time and if a car struck them and was wrecked, the village would be liable. And he spoke from past experiences in the matter.

—o—

With the coming of warm weather many of our sick are getting about the streets again. Among those seen recently were Charlie Cook, Charlie Miller, Clark Baxter and Bill Pepper.

Several new faces are being seen about the village as new families move into Addison from nearby communities. And also some of our own people are changing neighborhoods. Have you called on your neighbors yet? Drop in on them, not in a formal visit all dressed up, but as you are when about the house. This will put everyone at their ease.

—o—

Central New York Granges are passing resolutions condemning a speech made by Miss Van Lue, superintendent of the home economics department of the State Education Department in Albany. She told a group of economics teachers that the high cost of using milk, cream and butter in home economics departments were too expensive to be used in a $375 per year food budget. Copies of the protest have been sent to her, Commissioner Noyes and the Department of Education. A fine speech in a milk producing area.

Old Man Weather is sure giving this mortal earth a tough deal this year. What with the drouth last year, the floods and heavy snows so far this year and now a protracted cold spell. And it seems that the sun cannot shine two days in succession, at least as this is being written. It reminds me of the line in the George Ade composition, "the cold gray down of the morning after".

I have noticed some of the good householders of the community repairing their sidewalks so that the many women wheeling baby carriages and toddler carts of various kinds will have smooth sailing. It sure would be swell if everyone would fix the walks so that there would be uninterrupted walking or riding. Which reminds me, I must see to my own this week.

The good wishes of hundreds of people in the vicinity go with the Addison High School orchestra to the National Music contest in Albany this week-end. The young people have raised nearly $150 themselves in the past week by selling tickets to a concert. They are to be commended for their ambition and I'm sure we hope they will acquit themselves well as representatives of Addison at the national affair.

COUNTY BUYS SNOW-GO ON 4-WHEEL TRUCK DRIVE

The Steuben County Highway Department traded in its Snow-Go rotary mounted on an International truck for a new and larger Snow-Go rotary mounted on a F.W.D. truck. The new truck and rotary came Thursday. The old one did not have enough power. It stalled on grades and was slow in going from one point to another.

The new truck is the largest the county has ever owned. Complete with the Snow-Go it cost upwards of $12,000.

More Interest in Herbs
A. E. Griffiths

A ray of hope for jaded appetites is burning a little brighter these days, for many homemakers will start an herb garden this spring. They are interested in introducing spicy, aromatic flavors to foods, such as mint sauce for lamb, and dill and chive leaves for salads.

The best way to start is with a rather small kitchen herb garden, about 1 to 12 feet. This is just large enough to try a few varieties. Here's a good list, all easy to grow, as a starter; sweet marjoram, thyme, basil, summer savory, chives, spearmint, sage, and parsley. Success with these may prompt others, such as tarragon, rose geranium, lemon verbena, bee balm, rosemary or caraway.

The garden is convenient when near the kitchen. Some of the herbs are annuals and must be started every year, others are perennials and come up year after year. Because of this, the perennials should be at one side of the plot where they won't be disturbed when the ground is replanted with annuals next year.

Even if you can't make full use of your herbs in cookery, the herb garden will be a delight because of its fragrance and its attractive flowers. The low-growing kinds, such as savory, basil and thyme, may be used as a border along a walk, instead of in the garden plot. Certain herbs, also, make good ground cover where grass wont grow. Some will do well in a rock garden, or between the stones of a flagstone walk or terrace.

Dish For This Week

Fresh strawberries are particularly tempting early in the spring. Besides being served on cereal, in fruit salad, or in the ever-popular strawberry shortcake, they are delicious in this dessert suggested for special occasions:

Strawberry Charlotte
Fresh Strawberries

1 to 2 cups of crushed strawberries
1 cup of whipped cream
3½ cups of milk
3 egg yolks, beaten
¾ cup of sugar
1½ tablespoons of gelatin
½ cup cold water
⅛ teaspoon salt
3 egg whites, stiffly beaten
2 teaspoons of lemon juice

Soak the gelatin in the cold water. Scald the milk and combine it with the beaten egg yolks mixed with the sugar and salt; cook the mixture over hot water until the custard begins to coat the spoon; then add the gelatin, stirring until it is dissolved.

Cool the mixture and when it begins to set, fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites and the lemon juice; then add the strawberries and the whipped cream, put into a mold (that has been rinsed in cold water) and let it stand in a cold place until the dessert stiffens. some of the juice of the fruit or a custard sauce may be served with it.

A dinner menu suggested by the New York State College of Home Economics consists of tomato juice, pot roast of beef with new potatoes and carrots, buttered asparagus, whole wheat bread and butter, strawberry charlotte, milk for the children, and coffee, tea or milk for the adults.

The Census Bureau finds itself with a considerable quantity of waste paper as the result of its feud with the Congress over the questions to be asked. Estimates have placed at 14,500,000 the oversupply of special income question blanks, prepared during the final days of the row over the income and bathtub questions. The Bureau had 15 million of the income slips printed and distributed to enumerators for those who wanted to send answers about their income direct to Washington but less than half a million have been used.

The last report shows that 117 million people have been counted, about 93 per cent of the total ten years ago but less than was expected of the 1940 total. Little opposition has been encountered in obtaining answers to the questions, most persons express surprise that the quiz was not so offensive as they had anticipated.

A new use for a by-product of milk has been found by scientists of the Agriculture Department. Whey, the waste in cheesemaking, is now found to be usable in making candy. The formula has not been made into recipes yet for the reason that the raw material, a sweetened condensed whey, has not yet become available on the market. Along with brittle candy, it is used for making fudge, caramels, used in soups and gravy, combined with peanut butter and hidden in cup cakes and puddings.

With 18 million persons receiving Federal relief in one way or another, officials admit that we are as far away from a solution of the relief problem as we were in 1933. All signs now point to the establishment of a permanent relief policy to take the place of what were originally planned as temporary or stop-gap measures to care for the unemployed until more jobs were opened in private industry. There are many who are of the opinion that the government has killed the goose that laid the golden egg by imposing excessive burdens on business to such an extent that business cannot normally function, and that until many of the restrictions are removed, there can be no material change in the unemployment situation. Per capita relief costs are also increasing, the average cost in 1935 was $20 per person. This year (1940) the cost will be $27 per person.

As a defense measure, Californians are advocating the growing of the guavule rubber plant in California. The claim is made that this rubber plant can be grown profitably in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada and California on marginal land. Should the present war become extended, the United States might find its source of crude rubber supply either completely cut off or materially curtailed. Rubber is an essential war material and also extensively used in our everyday lives.

The introduction in the House of House Joint Resolution 483 would create a federal Tax Commission which would endeavor to accomplish the following purposes: 1. Establish a stable, more permanent tax structure, so as to avoid frequent changes in tax laws and minimize the adverse effect of changes in tax laws on individual initiative, investment and employment. 2. Simplify the federal tax system, including the forms of taxation, the statement of the law and the methods of administration, and 3. to coordinate the federal tax system with those of the state and local governments, to the end that double taxation might be minimized and overlapping of needless cost of administration be reduced. Not a bad idea, particularly if Congress and the President seriously entertain the idea of keeping government expenses in line with government income.

Girl Scout Mothers' Tea This Afternoon

Girl Scouts of Addison Troop are planning a tea to their mothers this Thursday afternoon in the Scout headquarters in the Grammar School building. Arrangements for the affair were completed at a meeting held last Thursday afternoon. This is an annual affair, known as "Mothers' Tea".

There will be musical numbers, entertainment, reading and group singing.

Quarantine Dogs To Save Sheep In This County

Steuben County paid more for sheep damaged by dogs than any county in the state according to a statement made at the meeting of the Board of Supervisors recently.

Members of the Board feel that some action should be taken relative to this unnecessary expense and so have decided to enforce the quarantine on dogs between sundown and sunup each day. This means that no dog will be permitted off its home ground between those hours and if found can be killed immediately on the spot and the owner fined.

The Agriculture Committee of the Board of Supervisors, composed of Guy Robbins of Howard, Edward Haradon of Hornby and Leon Andrews of Tuscarora has been making a canvass of the towns in the southern tier to determine the number of unlicensed dogs.

This law regulating the dogs applies to all villages as well as towns in the county. This matter of sheep being killed by dogs has long been a problem in the county and the supervisors and police authorities are seeking the cooperation of all dog owners to prevent the unnecessary loss of sheep life in the county and the large expenditure of money for the damage done.

Miss Beatrice Hurd Becomes Bride of Graham Kohler

At a quite home wedding beautiful in simplicity, Miss Beatrice Hurd, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Hurd of Nelson, became the bride of Graham Kohler, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Kohler, also of Nelson.

The ceremony was performed before an arch of mountain laurel at 1:30 p. m., Saturday, May 11, by the Rev. Melbourne Riffle of Lindley in the presence of relatives and close friends. A profusion of forsythia and potted plants added to the attractive setting.

Miss June Douglas, cousin of the groom, was the bride's only attendant Francis Hurd, younger brother of the bride, was best man. Mrs. Myrtle Hurd, aunt of the bride, played incidental music.

The bride was gowned in a street length frock of dusty rose crepe with harmonizing hose and navy slippers. She carried an arm boquet of asparagus fern, narcissus and yellow daffodils.

Following the ceremony luncheon was served by the bride's mother assisted by Mrs. Burnette Hurd of Elkland.

Mr. and Mrs. Kohler left later by motor on a brief wedding trip. They will reside in an apartment at the home of the groom's parents where he will be engaged in farming with his father.

The young couple are well and favorably known in this vicinity. Both were graduated from the Elkland High School in the class of 1938. The bride also completed a course at the Gregg Business School in Corning.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Kohler of Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kohler of Thurston Miss June Douglas of Solladasburg, Pa., the Rev. and Mrs. Melburne Riffle of Lindley; Mr. and Mrs. Burnette Hurd of Elkland; Mrs. Myrtle S. Hurd of Borden and members of the bride's immediate family.

Steuben Baseball League Opens This Sunday

The Steuben County Baseball League, formerly the Little Six League will swing into action Sunday with the 10 teams swinging into action. This is the largest number of teams in the league in several seasons. The advent of Beaver Dams and Hornby forced the making of a new schedule for the league under the direction of William Davison of Woodhull and Robert Drake of Lindley.

Addison will play at Fibre Box in Corning, Beaver Dams will play at Lindley, Painted Post will play on the Caton hilltop diamond, Hornby will play Gang Mills and Jasper will play on the Corning Cubs diamond.

The games will get under way at 2:30 o'clock daylight time and all rules passed at recent meetings will become effective at that time Sunday afternoon.

There is much enthusiasm for the league this season and with the teams entered play is expected to be fast throughout the league. There will be just home and home games between the teams and not round robins as before with a third game being played at the toss of a coin among managers.

Chatfield Finds Civil War Issue Harper's Weekly

"The Journal of Civilization" was the sub-title of Harper's Weekly Magazine published by Harper Brothers in New York. And a journal of civilization it was. A copy of the magazine dated Saturday, April 19, 1862 has been unearthed by Samuel Chatfield.

The magazine contains something of interest for a wide-range of readers. There is no specialization as in some current publications. Poetry, pictures, items of world affairs and home topics, departmentalized as is done in many magazines indicating that there is really nothing new in our digest type of magazines.

The magazine at hand was volume VI, number 277, meaning that it was the seventh volume containing 277 issues., for that was the number of the issue. It was set in six-point type which is one-fourth smaller than the type you are reading. In addition the lines were closer together. It must also be realized that every letter was placed by hand in every word and not set on machine as is done today. There were about 50 letters to a line. Each issue ran in a series for the issue of April 19, 1862 was numbered from pages 241 to 252.

Among the items featured in the magazine, and by featured is meant having a bolder head than the other items, for there were no lengthy headlines, just one and two line affairs, was an item by "The Lounger stating that 87 years ago General Warren sent Paul Revere to rouse the towns about Boston, etc.

There is also a description of the Battle of "Pittsburgh" of the Civil war. In fact most of the news items concern the Civil War. There are several full-page pictures showing ships at Hampton Roads, the port of Alexandria, Va., port at Norfolk, Va., and a balloon view of Savannah, Ga., and a full page picture of the Burnside exposition and a general map of Virginia showing the road to Richmond. These are not actual photographs, but artists' sketches in black and white.

The paper is in good state of preservation considering its 78 years. Many people of the vicinity can remember Harpers Weekly and many have bound copies of various years, but the Civil War issues are particularly valuable as historic relics owing to their story of an important period in American history.

Addison Team in Steuben County Baseball League

Addison will have a team in the Steuben County Baseball League under the managership of Harold Hibbard. Last year's managers could not organize the team owing to other activities but Mr. Hibbard's interest in baseball gave him the impetus to collect from local merchants the sum of $16. This will be used for the league entrance fee of five dollars, purchase of baseballs and equipment. The uniforms were donated by a group of public spirited merchents last summer. They will be returned to the merchants at the close of the present season.

There are eight teams in the Steuben County League, formerly the Little Six League. The local team will be composed of several veterans and some of the high school talent playing amateur ball at the close of the scholastic season.

The line-up will probably include Louie Dominick, Paul Thomson, "Ike" Clark and George Hopper, pitching; Bill Root behind the plate, "Russ" Wade on first, "Gib" Doddato and Dick Willis alternating at second, Mike Triches or "Pipe" Heidrick at third, John Grange, and James Kelly in the outfield.

Former Addison Residents Celebrate Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary

The Rev. and Mrs. D. O. Colburn, 30 New street, Binghamton, celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary Sunday May 12, with a family dinner party at the Asbury Tea Room, Binghamton, attended by approximately 40 relatives.

A reception followed at the Colburn home from 4 to 9 o'clock when friends and relatives called.

The Rev. and Mrs. Colburn have been residents of Binghamton for the past 28 years, coming here from Corning in 1912.

The Rev. Colburn was born in Addison in 1867, the son of Oliver and Abbey Albee Colburn. His father served as a private in the Civil War. The Rev. Colburn will observe his 73rd birthday next August.

Mrs. Colburn was born in Cameron, the daughter of Charles P. and Anna Eliza Hallett Knapp, one of the pioneer families of that section. Mr. Knapp also served as a private in the Civil War. Mrs. Colburn recently marked her 69th birthday.

Miss Maud C. Knapp and Delbert O. Colburn were united in marriage on May 13, 1890.

Two sons and three daughters, all living, were born of this union. They are: Howard K. Colburn of Binghamton, Leon L. Colburn, Endwell; Mrs. John B. L'Hommedieu and Mrs. W. Harrington Disbrow, both of Binghamton, and Mrs. Robert L. Cline of Woodside, Long Island. There are thirteen living grandchildren.

Mr. Colburn also has three living sisters: Mrs. Ford Davis of Addison, Mrs. Minnie Hubbard and Mrs. Carrie Wolcott, both of Corning. Mrs. Colburn has two brothers, Edward R. Knapp of Groton, Conn. and Olean, and Attorney Wilbur F. Knapp of Bath.

The Rev. Colburn is well known in the Triple Cities as a preacher in the Wyoming Conference of the Methodist Church, and a railroad man.

He served as pastor of the Endwell Methodist Church for 14 years, 1921 to 1935. For three years, 1935 to 1938 he was pastor of the Westover Methodist Church. Since leaving the Westover church he has done supply preaching.

His service with the Erie Railroad Company began in August, 1885 in Addison, from where he was transferred to Elmira in 1900, in the capacity of ticket agent, where he was stationed until 1909. In that year he was transferred to the Corning offices where he served as ticket agent until 1912. In 1912 he accepted the position of ticket agent in the Binghamton office of the same railroad where he served until his retirement in 1937.

The Rev. Colburn taught the Railroad Y.M.C.A. Bible Class over a period of 25 years. He was a member of the Board of Education of the Binghamton City Schools from 1931 to 1936, and is now serving as a member of the board of the Binghamton City Library.

Both the Rev. and Mrs. Colburn are enjoying good health and are active members of the High Street Methodist Church of Binghamton.

500th Printing Anniversary Story Is Told

1940 time FIVE HUNDRED YEARS OF PRINTING

(No. 1 in a series of articles commemorating the invention of printing).

Suppose every book, magazine and newspaper in the world were suddenly to disappear from the face of the earth?

Man's life would be a blank, as empty as the white, unfilled spaces above these lines. And if the art of writing itself were lost, too, we could learn nothing of the naval battle on the Norwegian coast, of the condition of a friend away from home, even of the everyday activities of people in our neighborhood.

The story of civilization is the story of the means man has devised to express his thoughts and feelings. To cut a loaf of bread one needs a tool—the sharp blade we call a knife. To communicate with our fellowmen also requires an instrument—known to all of us as "words."

But our words did not come all of a piece. The human being did not talk and write overnight. Look at man for a moment, early man and modern man. Yesterday, a savage cave-dweller, hunting tree grubs and live game, communicating by means of heavy grunts and crude motions of the hand and fingers; today, a home owner or renter, hunting nothing more dangerous than cellophone-wrapped groceries, communicating through the Bible, "Gone With the Wind", the Reader's Digest, yes, and this newspaper.

Separating that yesterday from this today is a million years of history, and this minute you are reading this article because somewhere along the long line of his evolution man created the miracle of the PRINTED WORD.

(Next week., in the second article of this series, we will tell how man first began to write by drawing pictures of animals and human beings on the walls of his cave.)

Johns and son David, Mrs. Nina Mann, Mrs. Waldo Butler, daughters Eileen and Wanda and niece Miss Joyce Dann of Troupsburg; Mrs. Stella Erwin, Mrs. Albert Root, Mrs. Arthur Rice, and granddaughter Betty Oldfield, Mrs. William Levi, Miss Margaret West, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Ford and daughter Virginia, the Misses Dorotha and Joyce Jones.

Episcopalians Plan To Expand Program

A forward-looking program for the Episcopal Diocese of Rochester calling for an increase of 40 percent in the appropriation for mission work in the Diocese and 43 percent for mission work of the General Church is forecast by the action of the Executive Council.

Decision on the proposal of the Executive Council will rest with the annual convention of the Diocese to be held in St. John's Episcopal Church, Canandaigua, May 14 and 15. If the convention concurs the 16,000 members of the Church in the Diocese of Rochester will be asked to supply the necessary funds in the every member canvass in November.

The proposed budget also contemplates the engagement of two clergy men attached to the office of Bishop Bartel H. Reinheimer, one as Secretary of the Department of Religious Education and the other as Secretary of the Department of Social Service.

The Executive Council at its meeting last week heard reports of progress along several lines of religious activity. The Rev. Frank R. Fisher, rector of St. Mark's and St. John's Episcopal Church of Rochester and Chairman of the Department of Religious Education, told of the normal school for Sunday School teachers which is being held Wednesday evenings in St. Luke's Parish House, Rochester.

The Department of Evangelism and Devotional Life is cooperating with the Rochester Presbytery in conducting outdoor services during the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Rochester in May. The Rt. Rev. Henry W. Hobson, Bishop of Southern Ohio, is sending his moveable church "St. Paul's Wayside Cathedral" to Rochester for use in the services.

Knights Trim Canisteo Nine

Canisteo dropped a heart breaking baseball game to the Addison Knights here Friday afternoon 14 to 3. The heartbreaks came in the opening stanza when the visitors got three men on the bags. Wilder hit a three-bagger driving in the three runs but was called out by Base Umpire Hibbard for not touching first base and the three runs were not counted. The heart was taken from the visitors from that time on plus the fact that Thomson was given good support in the outfield. Shortstop Taylor for Canisteo also scored several errors putting Wilder and Hunt in the box many times. In addition to a stellar pitching performance Thomson got two hits and three runs in four times to bat. Coleman led the local hitters with three hits in three trips to the plate. The losers scored only five hits for their three runs while the Knights were making 14 runs on 11 hits.

Nearly $400,000 will be the stakes for the horses at Belmont Park during the 24-day racing period there. Estimates state that 50,000 crowds should be week-end expectations. The pari-mutuel betting arrangements will be in order for the first time and there will be over 500 windows in which bettors may place their cash to back their hunches.

Al Schact, baseball's clown, appeared in ball parks in 43 states last year doing his tricks. He was in Rochester for a week-end and put on quite a show. He used to team up with Nick Altrock in Washington and the pair were always engaged for World Series entertainment.

Statisticians have figured that Notre Dame's football squad has a .875 average of victories since the World War.

Western New York sportsmen will have something to shoot at for Robert Bemish of Rochester hooked a 4½-pound trout in Keuka Lake and later took a 14½ pound lake trout at the same place.

There seems to be a prevailing wind blowing against the Yankees. And it sems that there is a large group of baseball fans in this vicinity who are delighted to see them near the cellar and who have hopes that they will stay there even when Joe Dimaggio gets going.

Bimelich justified Colonel Bradley's faith in him by winning the Pimlico Preakness Saturday to add $53,000 to his winnings and become one of the greats of horse racing. The three-year-old lost to Gallahadion at the Kentucky Derby and put that horse in third place Saturday at the Maryland races.

Cornell's baseball team is acquiring quite a reputation in the collegiate leagues with six straight victories in a row. The latest victim was Columbia.

—o—

Arnold Statz, former Fordham baseball star, World War veteran and former Giant player, participated in his 2,500th baseball game in Los Angeles Sunday. He is managing the Angels in the Pacific Coast league while playing in the outfield. He has played 16 seasons with the Angels and only once has he batted below .300.

George Canady, Wilmington, N. C., hooked two channel bass at one time and had quite a struggle before he landed 69 pounds of fish.

Bob Bennett of Cranston, R. I., throwing for the University of Maine, hurled the 16-pound hammer 182 feet and three inches Saturday for an intercollegiate record.

The most gruelling grind in outboard motor racing was held Sunday. The 130-mile course is from Albany to Dykeman Street in New York. It is a race for tough boats and tougher men as the little crafts bob along the Hudson in this longest American outboard race. Drivers from several states compete in this match.

The late "Jawn" McGraw, fiery pilot of the New York Giants, was a great admirer of Shakespeare. He was given a set of the Bard of Avon's works with the signatures of every member of the team. One of those volumes and a personal scrap book owned by St. Bonaventure College, where he graduated, will be on exhibition at the World's Fair in New York this summer in the Sports Building.

Another champion bit the dust in an ignominious finish Friday night when Texan Lew Jenkins walloped Lou Ambers and won the lightweight championship. Talk is now that Ambers will fight in the welterweight class. He is not worrying about the financial end, for smart boy, bought himself an annuity that will pay him $100 per week for life, owns his own home and so is pretty well set.

Two noted sports characters died in western New York State last week. One cavorted on the gridirons of the nation in this generation and the other fielded in the major baseball parks a generation ago. The first was the death of John "Ghost" Galloway, a noted Colgate gridiron hero and also baseball and football coach at Alfred at one time. He died in Mount Morris after an illness of two months. Patrick J. "Pat" Dougherty, 63, died in Bolivar last Tuesday morning. He was former outfielder in the American League from 1902 to 1911 playing with the Yankees, Chicago and Boston.

Addison Coach Appointed County Track Starter

William J. Miller, director of physical education in the Addison High School has been invited to be the official starter for the Steuben County scholastic track meet to be held in Bath Saturday, May 25. This is the first time in the history of these events that a Steuben County man has been invited to be the starter. The appointment of Mr. Miller is a tribute to his ability in track, in which he participated at Penn State.

The schools to take part in the meet will be Bath, Painted Post, Canisteo, Corning Free Academy and Corning Northside, Savona and other schools with track teams. Addison will not compete.

some 400 or more planes in the first four days of fighting, the allied plane loss being somewhat smaller as anti-aircraft fire accounted for bringing down many assaulting planes.

As the Nazi offensive went into its sixth day both sides spoke of the movement developing into the greatest battle of history. The Germans had taken the battle-scarred city of Sedan just outside the French defense lines, but the allies claimed they had anticipated taking the positions south of Sedan even before the offense started. The battle lines fell in the shape of a letter L. with the Belgian fortified line making up the upright of the letter and the French main positions placed south of the River Meuse.

Accomplishments of the five days were on the side of the invaders with the Nazis seizing bases on the Netherlands coast from which to start a submarine and air offense against Britain. British and French military leaders were hoping the fierceness of the German advance had spent much of the force of the blow and counted on halting the drive at the French fortified line. The allies claimed great losses had been inflicted on the invading army.

* * *

British volunteers are being organized into anti-parachute forces. They are recruited from World War veterans and other men unable to go to the front lines and will be duty-bound to watch for parachuting Nazis and shoot them down in the air.

Swiss soldiers mobilized for possible invasion watched with apprehension Tuesday as German crack troops practiced laying pontoon bridges across the Rhine at the Swiss border. Believed to be a ruse to divert attention from the main offense farther north, still the Swiss are prepared to defend their country with a supreme effort if the Germans strike there.

Queen Wilhemina of Holland an exile in London has listened with saddened heart to the conquest of her little country. For the first time in 145 years Holland knew the foot of an invader on her soil. While defenses of the low country crumbled its fleet quit Dutch ports and will be added to the British navy.

Hornell Trims Addison Knights

Three to two hardly tells the story of Addison's defeat by the Hornell High squad Tuesday afternoon at Hornell. The work of Bobownik, pitching for the winers was outstanding for he fanned 12 local hitters while holding the Addisonites to three bases on balls. His team played errorless ball behind him. Thompson, pitching for the Knights had five strikeouts and only walked three. He also kept the seven winning hits from being bunched. Four errors were scored against the losers. Vona and Dominick made the only double play of the contest. This game gives Hornell the league leadership.

The last league game of the season will be played here Thursday, this afternoon with Bath as the opponent. Tuesday a non-league game will be played against Painted Post here. Today's game will get under way at 4 o'clock on the high school diamond. The game was originally scheduled for Friday but owing to the High School orchestra going to Albany Friday with some of the athletes as members, it was scheduled one day ahead of the regular time by agreement of the coaches.

The box score of Tuesday's game

Addison — 0 0 0 0 0 2 0 — 2
Hornell — 0 1 1 1 0 0 x — 3

About four weeks ago this same bone was cracked and had partly healed. He was taken to the St. James Mercy Hospital in Hornell where an X-Ray revealed the extent of the injury.

He was accompanied by his parents the Rev. and Mrs. David H. Davis and Robert Mason.

Governor Signs Bill On Open Deer Season

All counties of the Southern Tier will have an open season on deer this Fall as a result of Governor Lehman's signing of a bill providing for an open season in Tioga, Chenango and Tompkins Counties.

The bill provides for an open season in these counties from Nov. 24 to 30, with the exception of the intervening Sunday.

Other counties in which there will be the same open season are Broome, Cortland, Steuben, Chautauqua, Cattaraugus, Alleghany, Chemung, Schuyler and Yates.

Extension of the open season to all counties of the Southern Tier resulted from wide spread demand by farmers and sportsmen in the counties in which there was no open season last year, officials said.

Deer were driven into these counties from counties in which there was an open season, resulting in extensive damage to crops, according to reports.

Work of game protectors during the open season will be complicated, as the season will be open in all of the eight counties of the Binghamton district. Last year game protectors were taken from counties in which there was no open season to patrol counties having an open season.

Deer can be taken only with a long bow or with shotguns loaded with slugs or a single ball.

Date of the open season on mink, raccoon and skunk has been advanced from Nov. 10 to Nov. 5, under asother new law.

Miss Margaret McGannon, Jersey Shore was a visitor in Corning Sunday.

Seed Potatoes Are Given Annual Bath

The farm bureau will assist scores of farmers in the treatment of their seed potatoes in stands to be operated at Cohocton the latter part of this week, and at Prattsburg the fore part of next, according to the announcement of potato committee chairman Lee Edmond of Cohocton.

The treatment disinfects the seed and kills the spores of rhizoctonia and scab, result in a better stand and a larger crop. Seed treating is an aid to marketing because it improves the appearance of the harvested tubers.

Originally announced for Tuesday and Wednesday, the stand at the Cohocton creamery will be conducted Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The stand at Prattsburg will be Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, May 20, 21 and 22.

The cost of seed treatment by this method amounts to only about fifty cents an acre, a small item considering the large benefit derived. In 1939 some 7000 bushels were treated by this method, and a larger amount is anticipated in the current season.

Orders for the service at Cohocton are to be placed with Postmaster Purdy Kincaid, and at Prattsburg with Arthur Putnam.

Eleanor Hogue Elected Nazareth College Queen

Miss Eleanor Hogue of Addison, a senior student and president of the Undergraduate Association at Nazareth College, Rochester, was crowned May Queen Wednesday, May 15, during the traditional May Day ceremonies held on the college campus. Miss Hogue, who was honorary chairman of the May Day Festival this year, was crowned by Miss Dorothy Craig of Rochester, vice president of the Undergraduate Association, which privilege would have been Miss Hogue's, had another student been elected queen. This election was by the entire student body in a secret ballot election held over a month ago. The identity of the May Queen was not divulged to the student body until she appeared on the coronation scene Wednesday at 3:00 P. M. She is the second college queen chosen from Addison as Miss Madeline Short was Alfred Queen.

The May Queen processional wound its way from the main college building to the throne erected on the campus. Miss Hogue was attired in a white lace gown with net insets, fashioned in princess style, with sweetheart neckline and bouffant skirt. Her arm bouquet was of white roses and lillies of the valley, tied with white satin ribbon.

Following the coronation, the May Queen, surrounded by her court, remained seated on the throne while a May Pole dance and pageant were presented in her honor. The pageant was entitled, "A Sudden Rose", signifying that love can conquer.

The morning ceremonies were of a religious nature, starting with a mass celebrated at 9 o'clock by the Rt. Rev. James Edward Kearney, Bishop of Rochester diocese in the college chapel. The altar processional was led by Miss Hogue, and Miss Rosamond Carpenter of Rochester, and Miss Alice Quirk of Geneseo.

A Communion breakfast followed with a May Day address by Bishop Kearney, who was honor guest all day, and processionals by the entire student body attired in caps and gowns to the May Day shrines erected on the campus by the various classes. The morning program closed with an address by the college chaplain.

A luncheon was served at noon at the college and a sister-class banquet concluded the May Day ceremonies with the Sophomores and seniors being feted at Oak Hill Country Club and the Freshmen and Juniors at the Rochester Club.

Miss Margaret Cowley of Erwins, was chairman of the announcements; Miss Madeline Murphy, daughter of Alderman and Mrs. Murphy of Corning was one of the sophomore class attendants and Miss Anne McCarthy of Elmira, who has relatives in this vicinity, was one of the graceful May Pole dancers.
